AWAY	A Fly On The Wall	The Underpants	Table Manners
Directed by Susan Flint	Directed By Natasha Boyd and Tess Maurici-Ryan	Directed By John Degabriele and Dawn Hinrichsen	Directed By Tess Maurici-Ryan
Away is a play by the Australian playwright Michael Gow. First performed by the Griffin Theatre Company in 1986. It tells the story of three internally-conflicted families holidaying on the coast for Christmas, 1968. It has become one of the most widely produced Australian plays of all time and is part of the High School Curriculum in many states, including Western Australia, New South Wales, Brisbane and Victoria.	A fabulous collection of 4 one act plays which form the basis of essendon theatre company's entries into the one act play festivals for 2010. Racquet Selling Johnny Depp Mothers Have Nine Lives Kids	The Underpants is the most recent adaptation of the 1910 German farce Die Hose by playwright Carl Sternheim. The adaptation was written by Steve Martin. It was produced at New York City's off-Broadway theater Classic Stage Company in 2002. The play is a "farical send-up of bourgeois snobbery and conformity	Sarah and Reg arrive at mum's house for the weekend so that invalid mum's care-giver, Reg's sister Annie, can get away for the weekend. But Annie ends up staying, their brother-in-law Norman shows up unexpectedly and so does Norman's wife Ruth. Sarah tries her best to organize a family dinner for the five of them plus Tom, a slow-witted neighbour whom everyone expects to propose to Annie. Sarah can't get much cooperation and doesn't realize that Annie had planned to sneak off with Norman. Annie is caught between Tom and a fling, mum is upstairs demanding attention, and there aren't six proper chairs.
